

The Book of Ezekiel

Course Description

In this course we will study the biblical book of Ezekiel, one of the books of the Old Testament/Hebrew Bible known as the Prophets. We will try to read Ezekiel "as if for the first time," paying close attention to what the biblical text actually says and what it might mean. We will consult commentaries and other resources for information about the ancient world and what the Church has thought about these books of the Bible, in an effort to become better equipped for biblically grounded ministry. Students will be expected to read and think about assigned biblical and other texts, to participate in online class discussion, and to learn a bit of the biblical Hebrew language relevant to our study. Students will complete an individual study project to engage more deeply with some aspect of Ezekiel, effective use of resources such as Bible dictionaries and commentaries, and ability to use the Bible in ministry.
